Mrs. Worthington came. with him, looking as pleasant as if she were visiting some grand lady in a handsome drawingroom. She had to have Alices rocking-chair, and Nat gave Mr. Hope his seat, and there they sat as comfortably and as much at home, to all appearance, as if there had been a Brussels carpet on the floor, and steel bars to the grate. Tom, said Mr. Hope, after a while, can you tell us now what youve been doing all this time Oh no! answered Tom; Im a wicked boy, and a thief, and all of you are so good! and he buried his face in his hands, and wept very bitterly. Tom, said Mr. Hope, in a voice that was full of comfort, do you remember that verse I gave you to learn in your Bible Ay, answered Tom, with a great sob, it was that brought me home again. I thought semebody was whispering it to me all the while, and all along the road. But I cant overcome. I cant serve God. None of us can serve God till we become His children in Christ Jesus, said Mr. Hope; as long as we think of Him as a hard master, we shall never serve Him, or overcome our own sins. We are to know Him not only as our King, or our Judge, or our Master, but as our Father who is in heaven. Only when we feel that God is truly...
